

Transaction Terms and Conditions

By Admin Nauman Chaudhary

1. Group Creation & Initial Steps

The buyer and seller will create a group through mutual understanding, and the admin will be added. The seller will share all account details in the group. Once the buyer confirms, they will proceed with the initial payment, including the admin fee.

2. Payment and Account Delivery

After the buyer sends the payment, the admin will verify the amount and instruct the seller to share the account login credentials within the same group.

3. Optional 7-Day Holding Period

If the buyer wishes to hold the payment for seven days, this must be agreed upon with the seller before initiating the deal.

Transaction Guidelines

1. Account Changes and Assistance

- The seller must assist the buyer in making all necessary changes to the account before payment.
- If the seller insists on changing the password in advance and the account gets locked or suspended, the buyer has the right to an immediate refund--no discussion required.
- If the account is successfully recovered, the buyer will reverify it and complete the payment.

2. Account Accuracy Guarantee

- The seller guarantees that all provided account information is accurate and matches the description.

- If there are discrepancies between the actual account and the seller's description, the buyer may cancel the deal and receive a full refund--no discussion required.

3. Pre-Transaction Verification

- The seller must provide screenshots or full account details for verification before the transaction.
- If the seller fails to provide this information, the buyer is entitled to verify the account using a Virtual Private Server (VPS).
- If any risks are identified during verification (as determined by the buyer), the buyer has the right to a full refund--no discussion required.

4. Security Risks

- If the buyer finds that the account has serious security issues (e.g., suspension history, multiple rejections, etc.), they can immediately return the account and request a refund--no discussion required.

5. Response Time Requirement

- The seller must respond to buyer messages within 5 hours.
- Failure to respond within this time without a valid reason gives the buyer the right to cancel the transaction and receive a full refund--no discussion required.

Account Locking Responsibility

- If the account is locked due to the buyer's error, the funds will be released to the seller after seven days.
- If the lock is caused by the seller, the funds will remain on hold for seven days.

Completion of Transaction

Once the buyer confirms full control and satisfaction with the account in the group, they will send a message: "Payment Release to Seller."

The admin will then deduct the agreed fee and transfer the remaining amount to the seller, marking the successful completion of the transaction.

Thank you for your cooperation and trust in this process.

Best regards,
